Commentators and Not Quite P.C.

Barney Hegarty

Welcome

Email Announcements Volume IV – Commentators and Not Quite PC is the fourth of a series containing emails that have been sent directly to me and have caused me to laugh out loud. The Announcements series generally contains actual statements, actual form entries, actual exam answers.... anything that has been reported as being truly stated. And I think they're genuinely funny.

Having bought this book, you are free to copy any of the contents and email them on to family and friends to provide them with a regular laugh. Your purchase will have included the address of a page within www.BHReviews.com that contains text files of the book, enabling you to cut and paste them to suit your audience. Please remember to mention www.BHReviews.com whenever you send them out.

Have a look at www.BHReviews.com, a growing site selling e-books compiled from a wide range of sources with the goal of saving people time. The Email Series are about not only immediate entertainment, but also a source for you to dip into and send out to family, friends and colleagues – potentially even sales prospects – as a starting point for conversation or contact or just for a bit of fun. There are a number of further series, including The Battle of the Sexes Series, the Family Friendly Series, the Rude but Funny Series, the Corporate Series and the oddly popular Non-PC Series. The Pun Series makes me chortle and sets my shoulders jumping up and down just thinking about it !

Enjoy

Barney

GAZZA 1

THE CRAZY WORLD OF PAUL GASCOIGNE

- 1) One hour after playing for England, met 'showbiz pals' Danny Baker and Chris Evans in a Hampstead pub while still wearing his full kit... boots included.
- 2) When asked for his nationality before an operation, told the nurse:
"Church Of England."
- 3) On a trip to London, jumped out of his car to demand "a go" on a workman's pneumatic drill. After getting the go-ahead, happily pounded the pavement to the amusement of shoppers.
- 4) On first meeting with Lazio's president to discuss his big-money move to the Italian club, was quick to tell the esteemed gentleman that he reminded him of Bud Abbot.
- 5) Organisers of Italia 90 TV coverage had the splendid idea of augmenting team line-ups with film of each player mouthing his own name. Gascoigne's genius led him to subvert the process by, instead, mouthing 'Fing Wker'. The BBC had to use it all the way through the tournament.
- 6) Booked a series of sun-bed sessions for then-Newcastle team-mate Tony Cunningham. Who, of course, is black.
- 7) Asked by a Norwegian camera crew if he had a message for England's upcoming opponents, immediately responded with, "Yes. Fk off Norway." Then ran off laughing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hats off to the England cricketers for their achievements in the Ashes this summer (2005), which rightly earned Andrew 'Freddie' Flintoff BBC Sports personality of the Year. Winning a two-team tournament against a nation with a much smaller population once in every ten attempts, then never shutting up about it makes me proud to be British. Ben Hunt

The government tells us that we are eating too many pies and dying of heart disease, then in the next breath they're telling us we are living too long and there'll be no more pension money left for us. I wish they'd make their minds up. John '

Alton Towers - Where the magic never ends', or so the commercial says. Imagine my disappointment when it closed at 7.30. Colum Hill

I am married to a Taiwanese lady, and people often ask me if she was a mail-order bride. I find this very insensitive. The Royal Mail lose around 2 million letters and parcels each year, and to suggest that I would trust the delivery of my wife to them is insulting in the extreme. She was sent by DHL next day delivery. L Palmer, London

The record companies would have us believe that the money made by CD pirates goes to fund the drug industry. But the money rock stars make from legal record sales ends up in exactly the same place. When they stop breaking the law, so will I. P Boddington, Ringway

Did anyone else feel that Mel Gibson's remake of the classic Life of Brian wasn't anywhere near as funny as the original?

It really annoys me to see these suicide bombers blowing up people as well as themselves. In my day, suicide was done in a more dignified way, such as slicing your wrists in the bath, or hanging yourself from a door with a belt. Paul Mulraney, Belfast

On holiday a few years back, I took part in a quiz and managed to reach the final only to lose out after what I consider to this day, to be a correct answer. The question asked 'What 'C' would you associate Jeremy Clarkson with?' to which I confidently replied '<unt'. Not only was I told the answer was incorrect, but I was asked by the holiday rep to leave the premises immediately. Has anyone else experienced such appalling treatment whilst holidaying with one's family? Noel, Leeds

My friend's mum recently pointed out that I have the same ironing board cover as her. Can anyone think of a more mundane and pointless remark to make than this? Alun Daniel

I'LL never understand my neighbour. He has recently started wheel-clamping his own caravan when he finds he has inadvertently parked it in his own drive! I wonder if he is a sadist, a masochist or both. Alan Thakray

I recently bought a fridge freezer from Currys, and after I had paid for it they asked me for my address to arrange delivery. I told them that I lived between Gateshead and Hexham, and if they rang me a week next Tuesday between 8am and 7pm, I might be able to give them a six hour slot when I would be able to take delivery. When they rang me, I told them that my house was out of stock and they should ring back on Saturday. The shoe's on the other foot now, isn't it, Currys? DF Kant

On the BBC website, I read with interest that some scientists in Australia have discovered the smallest fish known to exist. They've obviously never been to the Britannia Chippery on the Gloucester Road. Alan J., London

I never worry about the destination when I'm going on holiday. My dad is Iranian and my mum is Irish, so I spend most of the time in customs. Stan

What's all this nonsense about that 66-year-old Romanian woman being the world's oldest mum? My mum's 77. Beat that. Thomas J

- 17) While attempting to deflect the 'kebab controversy' which spelled the beginning of the end of his England career, assured reporters that his doner-munching antics following Middlesbrough's promotion to the Premiership would in no way affect his fitness before France 98. One reporter asked: "What do you feel like now?" Back came the inevitable response: "I feel like a kebab with onions."
- 18) As an apprentice desperate to impress then-Newcastle boss Jack Charlton, spent a week's money on fishing gear and begged the famous angler to give him a lesson. On arrival at the riverbank, Charlton promptly threw all but the rod out into the briny, then poured a bottle of Newcastle Brown into the water, dipped in the rod and within seconds was pulling out a whopper. Lesson over.
- 19) As 'perk' of boot-cleaning duties during his apprenticeship, took Kevin Keegan's Golas home to show his mates. But left them on the Newcastle Underground.
- 20) When playing for England against Belgium in Italia 90, ridiculed Enzo Scifo as he lay on the ground clutching his leg. Gazza thought he was play-acting, so did a mime of his own which involved hopping on one leg with his tongue lolling out.
- 21) His attempt to jet off to Libya with Middlesbrough for a post-season tour was hampered by the fact he'd left his passport at home. An emotional Gazza wept at the check-in desk until a minion was despatched to bring it to the airport.

39. "Look at him as he takes his stance, like he has been sculptured, whereas Bobby George, with his bad back, looks like the Hunchback of Notre Dame."

40. "He's playing like Robin Hood in the Nottingham super league"

- 25) Walked into the Middlesbrough canteen wearing nothing but his training socks and ordered lunch.

- 27) Whilst dining in the prestigious Bedford Arms Hotel in Woburn with a few of his Geordie mates, decided to place his erect member on the shoulder of a diner at the next table. Thinking someone had tapped him on the shoulder the gentleman turned his head only to have Gazza's helmet prod him in the cheek.
- 28) Took a documentary team to a beautiful Scottish cottage which he informed them was his new place, pretended he'd forgotten his key and knocked instead. When the door opened, told the befuddled housewife inside that he was doing a telly advert and wanted to know if she preferred Daz or Omo.

GREAT TIPS FROM VIZ

DON'T waste money on expensive ipods. Simply think of your favourite tune and hum it. If you want to "switch tracks", simply think of another song you like and hum that instead.

CINEMAgoers. Please have consideration for pirate DVD viewers by having a p * s s before the film starts.

RAPPERS. Avoid having to say 'know what I'm sayin' all the time by actually speaking clearly in the first place.

DON'T waste money on expensive paper shredders to avoid having your identity stolen. Simply place a few dog turds in the bin bags along with your old bank statements.

WORRIED that your teeth will be stained after a heavy night drinking red wine? Simply drink a bottle of white wine before going to bed to remove the stains.

SOLDIERS - Invest in a digital camera to avoid all that court martial tomfoolery after a trip to Trueprint.

MURDERERS - Need to dispose of a body? Simply parcel it up and post it to yourself via DHL. You will never see it again.

BURGLARS. When fleeing from the police, run with your right arm sticking out at 90 degrees, wrapped in a baby mattress in case they set one of their dogs on you.

EMPLOYERS - Avoid hiring unlucky people by immediately tossing half the CVs into the bin.

MEN - When listening to your favourite CD, simply turn up the sound to the volume you desire; then turn it down three notches. This will save your wife from having to do it.

GAMBLERS. For a new gambling opportunity, try sending a £50 to yourself by Royal Mail.

BANGING two pistachio nutshells together gives the impression that a very small horse is approaching.

BLIND PEOPLE - Give yourself at least a chance of seeing something by not wearing heavy dark glasses all the time.

GRATED cheddar cheese from the supermarket can be squashed tightly together with the fingers to produce a block of cheese, ready for slicing or grating.

ALCOHOL makes an ideal substitute for happiness.

DRIVERS. If a car breaks down or stalls in front of you, beep your horn and wave your arms frantically. This should help the car start and send them on their way.

PREVENT burglars stealing everything in the house by simply moving everything in the house into your bedroom when you go to bed. In the morning, simply move it all back again.

CAR thieves - Don't be discouraged when nothing is on view. All the valuables may be hidden in the glove box or under a seat.

DEPRESSED people - Instead of attempting suicide as a 'cry for help', simply shout 'Help!' thus saving money on paracetamol, etc.

MOTORISTS - Avoid getting prosecuted for using your phone whilst driving. Simply pop your mobile inside a large shell and the police will think you are listening to the sea.

SHOES last twice as long if only worn every other day.

SINGLE men - Convince people that you have a girlfriend by standing outside Etmam with several bags of shopping, looking at your watch and occasionally glancing inside.

ALCOHOLICS - Don't worry where the next drink is coming from. Go to the pub, where a large selection is available at retail prices.

McDONALD'S - Make your brown carrier bags green in colour so they blend in with the countryside after they've been thrown out of car windows.

And the absolute belter for last

WOMEN - Don't waste energy faking orgasms. Most men couldn't give a $h*t anyway and you could use the saved energy to Hoover the house after you've been banged.

GAZZA 5

- 33) Bought a £1000 robot and programmed it to travel into Jimmy Five Bellies' room at Gazza Towers and announce: "Make a cup of tea, fat man."
- 34) Stuck his tongue out when the TV cameras panned past him during the national anthem at Italia 90.
- 35) Prepared for England matches during that hugely important tournament by playing marathon games of tennis in the scorching midday sun.
- 36) Thought it would be appropriate to wear a blue fright wig before the 1991 FA Cup Final.
- 37) In his time, has agreed to dress as a Roman centurion, a clown, Oliver Hardy and Braveheart for 'photo opportunities'.
- 38) While his Italia 90 team-mate was the hero of Hillsborough, marched into a Sheffield barbers and demanded "a Waddle cut".
- 39) When Gazza signed for Spurs in 1988, he came down to finalise the deal with a bunch of his Geordie mates. They took over the posh hotel in Hadley Wood where Spurs were footing the bill and wreaked havoc. Gazza met then-chairman Irving Scholar and began talks by saying, "We'd like to thank you for the best three days of our lives."
- 40) Asked to leave West Lodge Park Hotel in London after guests were treated to the sight of a naked Five Bellies swimming across the duck pond.
- 41) On his first night in Rome after signing for Lazio, gave his minder the slip, put his shoes by an open window and hid in a cupboard. The minder thought he'd committed suicide.

GAZZA 6

- 43) Greeted reporters in Rome by standing up, asking for silence, then farting at ear-splitting volume.

- 45) Shredded England team-mate Dennis Wise’s Armani suit “for a laugh”.
- 46) While staying at a Scottish hotel, drove across its golf course in his four-wheel drive Jeep.
- 47) While reputation preceded him in Italy, the English language did not. Hence, his Lazio debut was marked by a banner which read: ‘Gazza’s Boys, We Are Here. Shake Your Women And Drink Your Beer’.
- 48) Conversely, rival Italian supporters once hailed him with a banner which stated bluntly: ‘Paul Gazza, You Are Fat Poofta’.
- 49) After being sent off while playing for Lazio, shook hands with virtually every member of the Genoa side.
- 50) While staying in a New Zealand hotel, was told there was no bacon for breakfast. Replied, “What, all the sheep in this country and there’s no bloody bacon!”

THE END

Do you receive any good emails?

Why not send them to us and we will use them to build up further volumes of books like these?

We only have two rules:

1. They must not be derogatory towards any individual – including politicians.
2. They must be funny.

We consider the most unacceptable part of the press all over the world is the willingness to make sneering and unpleasant comments about individuals who cannot defend themselves. So we don't do it.

The emails don't need to be just like the ones in this book either. We have compilations on a load of subjects and any email that meets the criteria above will find one to suit. And if it doesn't? We'll make one!

We will name the donor of any emails that we use in any of our future compilations and give a free copy of a book of their choosing from our list. (If we get multiple donations, we can only do this for the first one, though).
